

New Marathon Champs Set New Record Time

Washers School Busses and Driver's License

New Traffic Laws Go Into Force on Saturday, September 13th

New traffic laws passed by the Michigan Legislature will go into effect on Saturday, September 13. One of the new laws will require school busses to stop when a red light is shown on the front and rear, to give warning that the bus is slowing for a stop. These will continue to flash while the bus is stopped. The new lights, plus a stop warning pointed on the rear of the bus, will replace the arm signal now used at the driver's window on the busses.

Until a stopped bus resumes motion, or the driver signals traffic to continue, or the warning lights cease to flash, it will be illegal to pass the bus. And it is illegal to pass even if the lights are not flashing, if the bus is loading or unloading.

Failure of a driver to know, or to remember, beginning September 13, that he must stop from the opposite direction could be disastrous, because children who must cross a highway to board or leave a school bus will be depending upon all traffic to stop for them.

Some children also may require extra alertness by drivers. They are supposed to cross only in front of the bus, but they may not. They may cross the highway to board a bus before the bus has stopped. And they may not cross at the exact spot at which the bus stops.

A highway temporarily blocked in both lanes by a stopped bus and cars can also mean trouble if an approaching driver is not watching for such a condition. The new bus flashers are intended to be visible for at least 500 feet and busses are required to stop only where there is at least 500 feet of visibility in both directions. But visibility conditions are not always ideal, lights are not infallible, and 500 feet is not a great distance, especially at high speed or just around a curve or over the crest of a hill.

Drivers meeting a school bus which is signaling intention to stop face some new conditions, too. They will need to gauge where the bus intends to stop, to determine when to stop, or may continue. Drivers who must stop for a bus will need to be careful about giving timely warning of their intent to stop to any traffic which may be following them. In a city of traffic, especially on a high-speed highway, there will be need for alertness both for a stop by any cars ahead and to give warning of intent to stop to those behind.

The other State law change is referred as the "new point system." The new system will be "yardstick" that will be followed, in many cases whether a person will be permitted to continue to drive on Michigan roads or whether their driving privileges will be suspended.

The "point system" yardstick for rating a driver's improvement or suspension is based on the number of violations accumulated during a 24 month period. A vehicle operator who is convicted on a number of traffic violations may be called in for an interview upon accumulating 12 points and his license may be suspended or revoked upon receiving 12 points.

Section 320a delineates the formula for points leading to suspension. The division of drivers and vehicle services shall record the date of conviction and the number of points for each conviction based on the following formula:

- (a) Manslaughter, negligent homicide or other felony resulting from the operation of a motor vehicle — 6 points.
- (b) Operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or narcotic drugs — 6 points.
- (c) Failing to stop and disclose identity at the scene of an accident when required by law — 6 points.
- (d) Reckless operation in violation of section 226 of this act, as amended, or a similar violation under the laws of any other state, or municipality within or without the State of Michigan — 6 points.
- (e) Violation of speed by exceeding the lawful maximum by 15 miles per hour or more — 4 points.
- (f) Violation of any law or ordinance pertaining to speed by exceeding the lawful maximum by less than 15 miles per hour — 3 points.
- (g) Disobeying a traffic signal, stop sign or improper passing — 3 points.
- (h) All other moving violations pertaining to the operation of motor vehicles reported under this section — 2 points.

Act 180 states that no points shall be entered for bond forfeitures outside of this state. If a person has accumulated 9 points as provided herein the director may provide an interview as to his driving ability and record and place due notice as to time and place of said interview. If as provided herein the director shall add 2 points to his record.

Personalized Autumn Color Tour Service Offered by Michigan

Guess-work in planning Michigan fall color tours is a thing of the past.

The Michigan Tourist Council announced this week that for the fourth successive year it will offer a "personalized" fall travel service, by which individuals are given a tour when the state's autumn colors are at their best.

The Council's color information is the only one of its kind in the nation, according to executive secretary Robert J. Furlong. He said that the first group of color information was announced in 1954 and that it has since become a popular feature of the Council's fall color tour.

Smiggins Leads In Softball City Playoff Championship

By John D. Schofield

Smiggins Diggins moved within one victory of capturing their second City Playoff Championship since the playoffs were initiated three years ago. On Friday night they downed Millikin Construction in the best of the championship series, by a score of 9-7. This marked only the fourth loss all summer for Millikin — but all have been to Smiggins and they have yet to defeat them. The pressure is now definitely on the league champs, for to capture their second title of the year they now must win the next two games. Smiggins may become the City Champion by winning either game. A Millikin rally late in the game fell short of reversing this situation.

In tracing the playoffs through the preliminaries, first of all, Smiggins opened the tourney with a 9-4 victory over Ausable. Souvenir last Monday night Chevrolet eliminated DeCaires 10-5 and Millikin Construction ousted Bear Archery. Kelsey was awarded the only bye.

In semi-final action on Wednesday night Smiggins trounced Kelsey 17-4. However, Smiggins' shortstop, Duane Worden was spiked in the leg, an injury which required ten stitches and meant the loss of their strength at the plate for Smiggins. In the second game, Millikin downed Chevrolet in a hard played game by a score of 7-4. Chevy jumped to an early lead but could not hold it against Millikin's big bats.

In final league action last week, Chevrolet clinched third place from Kelsey when they downed DeCaires 13-4 and Millikin slaughtered Kelsey 25-0. Bear Archery forfeited their last league game to Smiggins.

The only possibility of a game this week is that if Millikin should have won on Monday night, they will play Smiggins in the third and final City Championship game tonight (Wednesday), at eight o'clock.

Some Michigan communities may have new industries before another summer vacation period rolls around because a visiting manufacturer enjoys its recreation facilities and some local residents are alert to the possibility.

In its program to bring more industry and jobs to Michigan, the State's Economic Development Department is expanding its "tourist screening" project.

Started several years ago as a summer program, the Economic Development Department now urges communities to use the "screening" program throughout the year as a Michigan increase in popularity as an all-year recreation area.

Chambers of Commerce and industrial development groups are being asked to mobilize service organizations, hotels, restaurants and restaurant employees and all persons associated with the resort trade to "talk up" their areas as good locations for industry.

The Economic Development Department has some specific examples to back up its program. Chevrolet has an industry because a South Bend, Indiana, manufacturer was forced into port there during a Chicago-Milwaukee race a few years ago. He liked the town well enough to buy a cottage. The town's reputation for industry and more he liked the community. Eventually, at the suggestion of a Chamber of Commerce official he located his manufacturing operation there.

Reed City has a growing industry that developed into an international business because a Niles industrial official liked the Osceola County community on a visit there.

Up in Leelanau County an industry was added some years ago because a long-time vacationer was watching a baseball game. When the victorious home-town team walked off the field, the visitor commented "If you boys can work as hard as you play ball, I'll open a branch of my company here. They proved they were as good workers as they were ball players. Some of those ball players still work in the company's plant there."

To assist in this "tourist screening" program, the Economic Development Department has prepared a manual with suggestions on how to make the program most effective.

A White Cloud restaurant carries on its menu some of the area's advantages to industry. In a number of other localities, cards carrying invitations to industry to locate there are on display.

One of the important features of such a program, the department stresses, is to have everyone in the community familiar with sources which can provide definite information on industrial locations and advantages. These include the Chamber of Commerce, industrial development groups, public officials and representatives of railroads and public utilities.

If a prospect is located among a community's visitors, cards of the Economic Development Department are available to help "sell" him on Michigan's natural resources, its markets, skilled workers and transportation system.

Millikin League Champs Under Pressure

Smiggins Leads In Softball City Playoff Championship

Work has started on an addition to the Keyport, Clippert, Henig Clinic as well as a new office building. The old building which housed the Weaver Bottle Co. and later the Fuelgas Co., Inc. at the corner of Spruce and Michigan Avenue was removed late last week and was sold to Leo Isenbauer.

The present clinic which is an L-shaped building will be built in the direction of Ed Lewis will cover about 2,200 square feet. The front of the new building will be on brick with the sides of block making a full masonry exterior. Completion of the project is expected in about three months, Mr. Lewis said.

The new construction will be a definite improvement to Grayling's downtown area. It was reported that one or two more renovations or complete rebuilding of Grayling downtown area buildings was in the offing.

Grayling Woman Wins State Target Crown

Mrs. Jo Monroe of Grayling who has made a habit of knocking off state archery records this year, did it again over the weekend as she took the State Target championship in the instinctive division and broke the record as well.

Mrs. Monroe also came in second in the instinctive division at the winning point. Sylvester Chessman of Grayling took third in the men's free-style division. The event was won by Bob Bitter of Big Rapids who finished second in the Bear $5,000 Invitational shoot at Camp Grayling in August. Harold Doan of Flint was second.

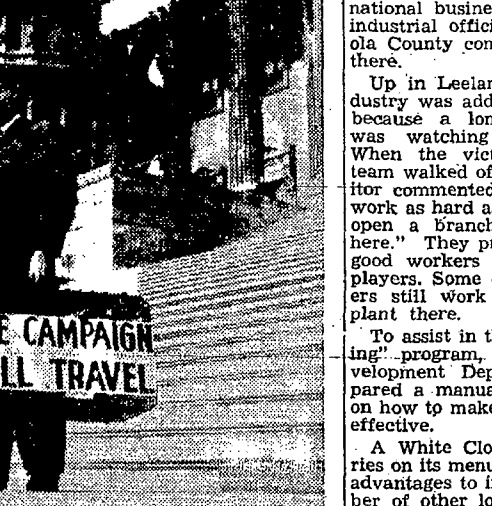

Cleo Robertson of Samaria, who was second in the Bear Invitational won the women's free-style division. The State Target shoot was held at Saginaw last Sunday and Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Carlson enjoyed visits from Mrs. Gusle Best of Breckenridge and Bill Corey of St. Louis, Saturday, and Mr. and Mrs. John Jacket of Breckenridge.

Mrs. J. J. Shaw is entertaining her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fennell of Detroit were weekend guests of the William LaRush home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Duval of Monroe were overnight guests at the Wilhelm Rame home last week.

SENATOR CHARLES E. POTTER, Michigan Republican, leaves the Capitol for a spirited reelection campaign in his home State. Potter, youngest Republican in the Senate and member of the powerful GOP Policy Committee, is a veteran of three terms in the House of Representatives and one in the Senate. "The 1958 campaign is vital to Michigan for many reasons," Potter said, "but the eyes of the entire country are fastened on our State for one very special reason: Will our American system of Government remain strong? Or will Michigan be dominated by one party, completely bossed by a handful of men representing but one view?" Called the "unbossed" candidate, Potter sponsored the bill to lift farm income by an ambitious research program to develop new uses for agricultural products. He has played a major role in developing Michigan's markets. He has been an original sponsor of the St. Lawrence limo economy and was an original sponsor of wage legislation. Seaway legislation. Father of increased minimum wage legislation, Potter has worked tirelessly to attract defense contracts into Michigan, thereby opening up new jobs.

Two Slight Accidents Mar Labor Day Weekend

With terrifically heavy traffic over the three day Labor Day weekend in Crawford County only two minor accidents were reported. Sheriff John A. Papendick reported.

In one accident a car skidded off the road and hit a tree while in the other two cars collided. In both accidents there was no personal injury and in both property damage was not too high.

Crawford Families Well Insured

(Special to the Avalanche) New York, Aug. 26 — A sign of economic strength among Crawford County residents is seen in their growing investments in life insurance.

Their total holdings have been climbing steadily and are now at an estimated $6,266,000.

The expansion is the result of moves they have made in this and other directions to add to their future financial security. Putting more into life insurance was one such step. At the same time they have been putting more than their usual amount into savings accounts.

Figures are given on the subject for the country as a whole and for each of the states in the 1958 Life Insurance Fact Book, just released.

It shows that the amount of life insurance in force increased considerably in the past year, despite the recession, raising the total to more than $485 billion. Residents of the State of Michigan carry about $22 billion of it. This does not include veterans insurance, provided by the government, or insurance issued by fraternal and other organizations.

On the average, it states, the amount of life insurance held per family in the United States is equal to the disposable income per family in a period of 18 months. Where incomes are higher, insurance holdings are proportionately higher.

Crawford County families had after-tax incomes of $4,075 for the 12 months of 1957 and $1,621 for the 6 months before that.

Their indicated life insurance holdings, therefore, based on the 18-month figure, average $5,696 per family.

For all local families combined, it amounts to the grand total of $6,266,000.

Life insurance in force in the United States rose by 9 percent last year, according to the fact book. The average rise was $700 per family.

It has grown as the economy has grown. This is brought out clearly in a glance at the figures of ten years ago. At that time, life insurance per family was equal to only 12 months of disposable income, as compared with 18 months now.

At present, more men are covered than women. The gap is being narrowed rapidly, however.

Wary but happy after their record setting run down the Ausable River in the twelfth running of the Michigan International Canoe Marathon, Steve Kolonich, left and Larry Kindell, right, congratulate each other. The win in the "big one" pushed their mark to eight victories in ten canoe races this year. It was the first marathon win for either contestant.

Marv Bielski And Dale Rohde Finish In Fourth Position

41 Canoes In 12th Race Run

Two new marathon canoe racing champions were crowned at Oscoda Sunday.

Osceola canoeists, Steve Kolonich, 38-year-old East Tawas woodsman, and his 27-year-old partner, Larry Kindell, of National City, set a new record to win the 12th annual Michigan International Canoe Marathon from Grayling to Oscoda and a $1,200 cash prize.

The champs ran the 240-mile winding course down the fast and winding Ausable in an elapsed time of 16 hours, 41 minutes. It was 10 and a quarter minutes faster than the course record set in 1956 by Ralph Sawyer and Tom Gildersleeve of Oscoda.

Drawing the pole position, the Kolonich-Kindell duo, who had won seven out of nine Michigan races this year, were never headed. A total of 41 teams raced, slightly less than last year when 46 teams started from Grayling.

Sawyer and Gildersleeve, who entered the race late and drew 24th position, finished second in an elapsed time of 17 hours, 8 minutes, considerably slower than their record time of 1956.

Sawyer and Gildersleeve, however, could not overcome the lead and the pace set by Kolonich and Kindell. The winners had gained four minutes at Stephens Bridge, increased it by one minute at Parmelee Bridge and added a little bit more to their lead at every check-point. Their lead was a corrected time lead of 64 minutes.

Finishing in third place, five minutes behind Sawyer and Gildersleeve, were the duo of LeRoy and Hootie, who had been among the favored teams.

Fourth place went to a strong team of two boys, Lacey and John, who finished in 17 hours, 17 minutes and 55 seconds. Third were Randy Thompson and Richard Smith with Tom Sawyer and Mark Smith taking fourth and Larry Korhonen and Jim Failing fifth.

At 2:30 p. m., a race for boys from US-27 to Stephens Bridge was held. This race was limited to boys from 12 through 15 years of age. Russell Gunt and Don Lesage were winners in one hour, fifty-three minutes and forty seconds. Coming in second were Lacey Stephan Jr. and Gary Peterson in one hour, fifty-four minutes and forty seconds. Finishing third were William Cox and Bob Aherns in one hour, fifty-seven minutes and fifty-five seconds. Fourth were Doug and Dave Funk of Oshtemo while fifth were Mike Goodrich and Carl Waitte. Finishing sixth were Mike and Gerald Lovely with Jim Wakeley and Harvey Merithew taking seventh.

The two boys' races were sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Grayling. Winners in both races were presented with trophies while other early finishers received merchandise prizes. All finishers of both races were guests of the Kiwanis Club at their pre-race chicken barbecue.

SCHOOL PLACES TWO NEW FENCES

Since the building of the new gymnasium building and the new bus garage at Grayling Public Schools, the children's playground has been considerably cut down. The Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints of Jesus Christ very generously gave permission to the school to use the two lots they own on the corner of Ogumaw and Chestnut streets. Later the Kiwanis Club of Grayling donated the money to erect a fence on both sides of the area to protect neighboring homes from possible damage while baseball is played, and the new fence is now in place. A fence has also been erected between Ogumaw street and the corner of the gymnasium and the rear of the Nurses Home. The Sisters of Mercy and the school are sharing the expense of this fence.

Grateful Parting . . .

You no doubt read in last week's Avalanche, Jack has decided to cease writing his column, "Jack's Stamp." We would like to make it clear again that this was entirely Jack's decision. He was not forced or asked to quit by the management of the Avalanche. He is, in our opinion, a fine columnist and has written many, many fine pieces for us and some have accomplished a great deal of good around and in Grayling. Last week's column did a more than fair job of explaining the impasse in which Jack and the publisher found themselves. However, one fact was not brought out. It was alluded to but we felt in all fairness it should be brought before our readers clearly. The impasse actually revolved around a matter of newspaper authority. It has always been a newspaper's final rule that the editor and publisher was the last final authority on what did and what did not go into a newspaper. The columnist and reporter have every right to get their news together in their own manner. The column or news story may be cut, changed, altered or thrown out by the editor. The columnist and reporter have earned their salary by their efforts regardless of what the editor may do. We stood on this principle as well as others to which Jack reported. Jack did not feel that he could do his job as he saw it with this authority over him. We're sorry that this situation came about . . . but we would not surrender our authority to Jack or to anyone. As we arrived at the decision made solely by the columnist, R. W. S.

Millions Of Decisions . . .

All manner of people, with varying qualifications, have been forecasting what the economy is going to do coming months. But at least one leading industrialist, Pierre S. du Pont, 3rd, frankly admits he doesn't now what is going to happen. In his words: "I don't have the slightest idea whether the short-term economic trend will be up, down or even sideways. I don't believe anyone else knows, either, including Congress and all the economists."

Then he points to something that is certainly obvious enough but often seems to be overlooked — that what happens to the economy is determined by millions of decisions, large and small, that are constantly being made by American consumers. To quote him again: "When the overwhelming sum of these decisions is to buy now, we have a boom, and when it is to buy later, we have a slump."

These millions of decisions, of course, are made voluntarily. But they can be encouraged — and that is one of the big jobs of the producers and distributors of goods of every kind. This is done by advertising and in other ways. Retailers, for instance, have kept their promotional efforts in high gear, recession or no recession, and the result is that sales have held to excellent levels for the most part. And a huge program of store modernization and new store construction, undertaken by the chain systems and by other distributors, has helped too, by making shopping a more convenient experience.

The editor of Chain Store Age, in fact, expects most of the chains to exceed their 1957 sales figures this year. If that happens, we cannot help but have a good level of business activity generally.

In Grayling 23 Years Ago

Interesting Items of News Gathered From the Files of the Avalanche of 23 Years Ago.

September 5, 1935

To more than one hundred people who accepted the invitation of Grayling to join the annual canoe parade down the AuSable, memories of gorgeous scenes of riverways were today stamping an unforgettable picture of one of the most successful canoe carnivals that the festival city of the north has ever staged. There have been other years when the participants were more numerous, but the conditions prevailing Sunday made the trip down the 50 miles of river-pierced wilderness of rugged beauty one of the most awesome in the history of the event. Heavy clouds that threatened rain darkened the sky as the first boats of the parade got underway shortly before 8 o'clock, with a veteran river guide accompanying each craft to point out the historic and lore-bound sites along the twisting, rushing river. Rain failed to materialize, however, and the clouds that swung their fantastic shadows along the riverways served but to add a further note of mystery to the scene where tall pines crowded thickly and closely to the water's edge, where high hills pushed sharply upwards from the shoreline and eroded sides bore mute evidence that here was a roadway where the lumber men of another day rolled their logs to the river for the historic spring drives down to Oscoda. AuSable. Before swinging down the afternoon stretch a midway stop was made at Stephen's Landing where the travelers were served dinners or enjoyed the luxury of picnics on the banks of the AuSable. To add an hospitable touch to the scene, many Grayling residents had driven to the Stephen bridge and crowded against the railing to cheer the canoeists as they drifted safely to a landing or to joke with them in case they happened to be one of the up-sets. The advance boats of the parade arrived at the Kinross Lodge at about 4 o'clock with the remnants of the flotilla arriving at irregular intervals up until eight o'clock.

People from all over Michigan attended the Old Timers' Picnic Sunday, and a few from out of the state. The picnic was at Beaver Creek town hall as usual and was attended by the largest crowd in four years, according to Ted Wheeler, outgoing secretary. Officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows: President, David Visnaw; vice-pres. George Annis; treasurer, Chris King; secretary, Minnie Hartley. The program of sports was carried out. The parade was planned. The Jackpines in the baseball game, winning the prize bat and ball. Foot race winners were, girls' race under 12, Virginia Hanson; boys' race under 12, George Zack; girls' race, over 12, Toots McEvers; boys' race over 12, LeRoy Leslie; Women's race, Alice King; Men's race, Robert King; Little tot's race, Jacqueline Harwood. Mrs. Frank Serven won the prize in the slipper-kicking contest, kicking a slipper 56 feet. Mrs. John Canfield, Jr. won second.

A low spreading bouquet of garden flowers centered the table at which were seated the sixteen guests of Mrs. H. A. Bauman, at a very charming dinner Friday evening. it throughout and making a two-family flat of the place. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hemmingson and daughters Misses Betty and Elaine of Highland Park visited the former's father Chris Hemmingson and family over the week end.

Mrs. York Edmonds and daughter Eleanor of Pueblo, Colo., arrived last week to join Mr. Edmonds, who was called here in July because of the illness of his father, Rufus Edmonds, of Maple Forest, with whom they will make their home temporarily.

Ernest Borchers, T. P. Peterson, Chris Hoesli, Olo Peterson, were on a fishing trip on the Upper Tahquamenon River, leaving here Friday and returning on Tuesday. They report an enjoyable outing but as for fishing it wasn't so good. Mr. Borchers says that the AuSable has 50 trout to every one in the rivers in that part of the state.

Guests Sunday, at the Henry Jordan residence, were Mr. and Mrs. John Jordan and son, Lyle, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jordan, son Melvin and daughter, Mary of Melvor, Peter Wizer and son, Walter of Saginaw, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lozon and son Jackie, of Maple Forest.

46 YEARS AGO
September 5, 1912

James Knibbs of Maple Forest had a crew of men and four teams working on Blonkie dam and last Saturday night when they were returning home a heavy thunder storm came up. They were near dam 4 and concluded to halt and get under protection. Three teams pulled up and John Howse, John Parsons, Bert Hollingsworth, Albert and Gilbert Vallad got under one wagon and Merrill Sherman and Arthur Howse sat in one wagon with blankets wrapped around them when the lightning struck three small trees about twenty feet distant. the wagon heard one horse fall and got out to investigate. ## HE MAY BE AN INDUSTRIAL PROSPECT

The visitor to your town or to the lakes and streams of your area is an important person.

But he may be more important than you think; more important, that is, to the future of your town. He may be the executive of a manufacturing company which could consider your town as the location for its expansion, now or in the future.

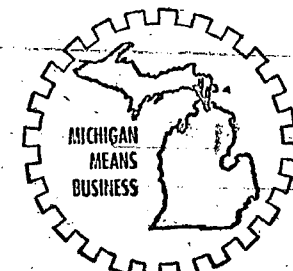

Talk to him about your town as a good place for industry to locate and prosper. At the slightest indication that he might someday be an industrial prospect, or that he could lead your town to one, call in a representative of your industrial development committee for detailed discussion with him. A town on its toes always looks good.

Almost always you'll find that a company's interest in a town began when somebody visited the town and liked it.

Join hands with your local industrial development organization and the Michigan Economic Development Department to help your community prosper.

Over 2900 of the questionnaires were completed. We expect the total to reach 3,000 after all the forms are turned in. We are quite happy over this number, as we feel that it is an adequate sample for our purpose.

We would like to thank the proprietors of the motels, hotel, restaurants, retail stores, canoe liveries, service stations, golf links, barber shops and beauty shop for their cooperation. Also, we are grateful for the help of persons in the post office, and dentists and doctors' offices. Proprietors in Grayling and Escanaba were also cooperative. And, most especially, we thank those who helped in the interviewing; these persons were mentioned in previous issues of the Avalanche.

It has been a most convenient and comfortable headquarters, and thanks are extended to the township officials for the use of their building.

The Grayling Business Association arranged for the printing of the questionnaires. This was one of the most helpful acts we encountered. This made it possible for the use of an attractive and effective form for getting our information.

Finally, our sincere appreciation is extended to the people at Bear Archery, who are processing the information.

We are gratified at the response and willingness of community people to work and cooperate on this project, which was held, as we are aware, at the busiest time of the whole year. It is such community planning and effort that is necessary for, and will insure, the continued growth and development of the Crawford County Area.

It has been a pleasure to work with you.

Sincerely,
Bob Hayes, County Chamber of Commerce; Howard Sommer, Central Michigan College; Gladys Knight and Gary King, Michigan State University.

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS

Should Teenagers Be Allowed to Date?

Life is never a simple bed of roses. Always there must be thorns — thorns that are the problems to be met and dealt with by every age group at one time or another.

When an average boy or girl enters the teenage set, a most frequent problem (and, to the teenager, a problem of most serious nature) is the attitude of their parents toward "dating."

Quite often the thing that brings trouble is the misguided parent who thinks that the longer he or she can keep their teenager from dating, the better things are for all concerned.

It has been normal since the beginning of time for young people to grow to the age where they enjoy being with young people of the opposite sex. In the middle teens parties and social gatherings represent valuable training grounds where both boys and girls learn to overcome their fears and shyness, learn how to meet people and how to conduct themselves like young ladies and young gentlemen.

This is something that does not come to a teenager when a certain age, say 16, 17 or 18 is reached.

The author remembers a wise psychology teacher who made this observation: "Many parents fail because they keep their young locked in a bureau drawer until they're 18; then turn them out and say 'There, I think you are old enough to take care of yourself now!'"

Having dates is as much a part of growing up for the average teenager as going to school. Teenagers can learn about the world from books — they must learn about people from people.

There isn't much room to grow in a bureau drawer, but, by the same token, a teenager can grow up too fast with no supervision at all. Parents who faithfully meet their responsibility stand somewhere on middle ground, with guidance, instruction and proper exercise of authority. It's more "bother" than saying "you can't date until you get to be 18" (or some other age) — something which all too many parents seem to do. But, its usually worth the effort.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or question, make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, NATIONAL WEEKLY NEWSPAPER SERVICE, TRANSPORT, N.Y.

They said reception was extremely good, but there was no sound. Freak reception was believed the reason the home watchers got to see part of the fight for free . . . HOME AGENT'S NOTES

"Consumers Marketing Information Cooperating with County Extension Service"

Fast approaching is the peak in the broccoli season. Northern Michigan is especially well-adapted to cool-weather vegetables and broccoli figures in this class. Right now beautiful green broccoli is finding its way to market and as the peak of the season arrives families having food freezers may want to freeze a supply of this excellent vegetable for later use.

A serving of broccoli once a week the year round cannot be too much - especially when we recognize its place in the high food value class. A half cup of cooked broccoli furnishes nearly three-fourths of the Vitamin C and one-half of the Vitamin A suggested for your daily diet. Besides being a nutritious vegetable, broccoli adds bright color and flavor variety to your meals.

When your shop be sure to choose dark green or purple green broccoli with tightly closed buds. The stalks should be tender and firm. A one pound bunch will serve three people.

Broccoli is perishable and should be used as soon as possible - after purchasing. Store in the refrigerator in a tightly covered container or moisture-proof bag until it is used.

To keep the color bright, remember to cook broccoli uncovered for the first part of the cooking time. This allows the vegetable's mild acids to "go off" in the steam. If these acids stay in the pan, they may cause the green pigment to change to an olive-drab color. Over-cooking also changes the bright green pigment to a drab color.

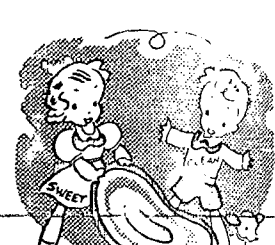

tender, and serve it immediately.

To freeze broccoli the Michigan State University bulletin No. 216 on "Freezing Foods for Michigan Homes" advocates selecting green, tender heads. To prepare, cut away tough stem. Boil in four tablespoons of salt to one gallon water one-half hour to remove insects. Split heads lengthwise so they are about 1 1/2 inches across. Scald in boiling water, only one pound at a time so the temperature of the water will not be lowered too much when the broccoli is added. Count time from the instant the vegetable is added - three minutes time for broccoli. Cool quickly using cold running water or ice water. Package in medially moisture vapor proof bags.

Enjoy the material and distinctive flavor of broccoli by serving it simply seasoned with butter. Or add a sprinkling of grated cheese, a sauce, or lemon butter.

To make lemon butter right, combine 1/2 cup melted butter, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1 tablespoon chopped chives for a taste treat.

Letters To The Editor

Crawford County Avalanche, Mr. Strong: This letter, if printed, could be an enlightenment for some of the uninformed parties who prevented the proper filming of this year's canoe race by radio and television personnel.

First of all, the use of flares and lights at these various points were checked before hand to determine the extent to which their use would impair the visibility of the canoeists and also, of the spectators. Secondly, points were chosen where, immediately below the flare area, there were no obstructions for a temporarily confused canoeist to hit.

Thirdly, no unauthorized persons were using these light making apparatus, but in spite of all such precautions, proper recording of the race at Stephan's Bridge and again at Robinson Bridge site was not possible.

It will interest some to know that these devices were not used when the "certain" canoeists were up on the "certain" bridge at these several places.

By Mr. Harry Louis, WWJ's electronics engineer, who was unable to cover the race at this point by the spectators' objections which were augmented by the sound car microphone.

Car lights at most places, in conjunction with other lights used by unauthorized persons, were at each place impairing the canoeists much more than our apparatus.

At Robinson Bridge site, a flare was set up and used before the canoeists appeared, at which time a man was in the river to check the effect of such flares from the canoeists point of vision. Little or no impairment was evident unless you looked directly at the light for several minutes.

Again, in spite of such precautions, we were prevented from covering this point as we were at Stephan's Bridge.

I handled the lights at Wakeley Bridge and these lights were not objected to. They were no less harmful than a flare or other device would have been.

"Michigan Outdoors", obviously, does a tremendous good for the North Country, public-wise, and the Grayling area in particular, during, before and after the canoe race.

Radio and TV coverage by WWJ does more to promote the successful outcome of this venture, than anyone other than the Chamber of Commerce realize.

Mort Neff and Mr. Shelly could more easily cover the latter part of this event, thereby not having to cope with filming in the darkness, and still get enough film for their requirements.

I don't believe the public, or some members of the Chamber of Commerce are aware of how much favorable publicity is beamed at the potential spender from down state by this radio and TV medium.

Many people would not be on those banks and bridges were it not for this and other publicity teams.

"Michigan Outdoors", and the personnel covering this year's canoe race, wish to thank Jim Wakeley for his cooperation in getting television material at Wakeley Bridge, and also for the fine assistance of others who assisted at Mio.

Thank you Norman "Bud" Stephan

Birmingham

Birmingham, Alabama

Birmingham, Alabama, on a site that was forest, farmland and mountain less than 100 years ago, is called the "Youngest of the World's Great Cities." More than half a million people live in this industrial, business, and cultural center located at the "crossroads" of the South.

Less than 150 years ago the Choctaw Indians roamed over this section of Alabama. The first white men came in 1813, hardy frontiersmen from Georgia, Tennessee and the Carolinas.

Railroads Cross

The birth of Birmingham came when two railroads built lines into that part of the State. A land company envisioned a city at the point where the railroads would cross and a model community was surveyed and laid out before the first house was built.

It was a lucky-chosen site. Birmingham is the only spot on the globe where the three essentials for making steel—coal, iron ore and limestone—are found in large commercial quantities. Birmingham has long been a leading producer of steel products and is named for the iron capital of Europe, Birmingham, England.

Busting Birmingham continues its work to add variety to its output, now produces such diverse things as cookies and chin-chillas, mattresses and meat, aircraft and

Located on the ridges at the southwestern extremity of the Appalachian Mountains, Birmingham has altitudes from 600 feet to over 1,200 feet. The panorama of Birmingham at night, with lights aglow in its long valley, is a beautiful spectacle.
